Correspondence Regarding Applications

The admissions office responds promptly to all inquiries after initial application materials are submitted. Applicants are notified as soon as the Admissions Committee has acted on the prospective student's request for admission.

Campus Visits

Prospective students and other guests are welcome to visit the campus. Tours of the facilities, meetings with faculty and students, and classroom observation are arranged by the admissions office assistant. Chapel services are a highlight of a visit. The admissions counselor will direct prospective students to administrative offices, faculty members, or other personnel who are available to provide information, counseling, and prayer concerning God's will.

Upon request, the admissions office will provide information concerning lodging while visiting the campus.
