

ENGLISH AND LITERATURE (EN)

---

EN 7900 Introduction to Research and Writing (3 credit hours)

This course is an intensive study of academic composition in the form of argumentation with an emphasis on research. Since this class focuses on arguments, it will also include a rhetorical study of material used in research, audience consideration, and tools to present information. Development of personal inquiry, discernment of credibility, and engagement of opposing ideas are also key components of this class